CALDER WOODBURN AVENUE OF HONOUR VEGETATION PROTECTION AREA1.019/01/2006
VC37Statement of nature and significance of vegetation to be protected

The Calder Woodburn Memorial Avenue comprises over 2,400 Eucalyptus spp. trees along both sides of the Goulburn Valley Highway from south of Seven Creeks bridge to the Violet Town Road intersection at Moorilim. The avenue was planted by Arcadia farmer, J.F.L. Fenton Woodburn between 1945 and 1949 in honour of his son, Calder Woodburn, who was killed in action while serving with the RAAF in England. The memorial is also dedicated to district men and women who died in World War II and to all those who served. A number of the trees feature small metal nameplates at their base. The Avenue has been listed by the National Trust of Australia (Victoria) on its Register of Significant Trees.

The Avenue has local social and historical significance, but is most important for the scenic and landscape values established by the general uniformity of its planting and its consistent species.
